and.Wednesday, October 25, 2011 I am not always good at making my own craft projects. However I am very good at recycling unwanted things. I found this cute little snowmen out of an old painting from the craft store and had to have it! Plus, I happen to really love things with cute little babies on them. I am using the snowman paper again from the Neenah Arts on a Swing Kit. I have already done the first two swing and the first paper is full of papers in two different colors, looks cute! I used the stencil for the last part of this kit. I love that stencil!

Sunday, October 22, 2011 Now that the weather has started getting cooler, I started thinking about winter crafts and the fact that I have a few projects I want to start. Since I had the MME bird nests in the above pictures, I decided to make some hot glue blocks to put into the nests.

After a little research on Etsy, I found this great project and decided to make these for my nest blocks. I really like the final result! Ingredients you need Hot Glue and a brush. I found this at Dollar Tree. These are really really easy! You need 5 blocks and then 5 blocks of mat board. I printed the bird on the back of the mat board. The bird is the best part! Hot Glue your printed birds on your blocks. I did 4 in a cluster and made 3 blocks of each type. I then cut out the bird and hot glued it to the blocks. See how cute! They can still be used as bird nests! They are so cute and make great spring or fall decorations! I am thinking of making some with a different theme! I want to paint some! Any suggestions? I am thinking fall, Easter, a Christmas tree and maybe even a holiday like Kwanza! Tuesday, October 10, 2011 I love to recycle! I am trying to use more upcycled materials

Flea and Tick Deterrence Fleas and ticks tend to hang out on moist, dark surfaces, and you can help deter them by keeping the areas around your house and yard clean. Soil mites may be repelled by washing exposed areas with plain, warm water. Apply a 10 percent to 20 percent solution of baking soda, or wash with a 10 percent solution of chlorine, to the floors and furniture of your home. Spray the inside of closets and drawers with a 20 percent solution of baking soda. Wash bedding with a 10 percent chlorine solution. Flea and Tick Treatments Use a spray called Frontline applied at least every three weeks to kill and repel fleas and ticks.

Alternately, you can treat your cat with a topical flea treatment that provides protection for one month. Conventional flea repellents like DEET, cedar oil and picaridin are also effective. If you have a cat that suffers from fleas or ticks and you are unable to find a prescription or topical flea treatment, then check the health products section of a pet store and look for "homeopathic" or "natural" treatments.

Feverfew is an herb that has been used for centuries to treat migraine headaches and fever. Research shows that feverfew has antiseptic properties that kill and repel fleas. Even better, it seems to also help to reduce flea attraction. As a last
